WELCOME // CROESO

Another World Is Still Possible

"Music holds the vision..." says Paul Baker Hernandez, our great Scottish Nicaraguan friend and supporter. The music of Chile's Victor Jara taps into that vision in an extraordinary way and his life and work continues to inspire our festival, here in Mid Wales. The setbacks of the last few years have produced major challenges to many people's hopes for a fairer, more compassionate world. The importance of gathering and drawing inspiration from artists such as Jara is as strong as ever. This year our focus is on Ecuador; a country of incredible diversity and home of one of the true visionary artists of socialism, Oswaldo Guayasamin.

'Ternura' by Oswaldo Guayasamin.

Ecuador has also recently elected Lenin Moreno, the world's first paraplegic president, who pledges to continue in the vein of his country's progressive left politics. The issues of how to balance the economic needs of a country with the sustainable use of its resources and respect for indigenous rights are highly significant in Ecuador, and we hope to explore these issues during the weekend. We also hope you have a wonderful time and leave feeling inspired and rejuvenated, echoed here in Oswaldo Guayasamin's sentiment:

"In spite of everything we have not lost our faith in humanity; in its capacity to rise up and create; because art is life. It is a form of love."

Love and peace from Tony, Maggie, Alison, Cristina, Ailsa, Tim, Mogs, Carol, John, Jorge, Consuelo, Hugo, Ignacio, Stu, Carine, Claire and Pete

Mae Byd arall yn bosib.

"Mae miwsig yn dal y weledigaeth..." dywed Paul Baker Hernandez, ein ffrind mawr Albanaidd Nicaraguan. Mae cerddoriaeth Victor Jara yn plethu i'r weledigaeth hynny ac mae ei fywyd a'i waith yn parhau i ysbrydoli ein Gŵyl, yma yng Nghanolbarth Cymru.

Mae digwyddiadau y blynyddoedd diwethaf yn herio gobeithion pobl o gymdeithas teg a chytbwys. Mae ennyn ysbrydoliaeth oddi wrth artistiaid fel Jara mor bwysig ag erioed.

Eleni, ein ffocws fydd Ecwador. Gwlad o amrywiaeth eang, a char-tref Oswaldo Guayasamin, artist arbennig efo gweledigaeth sosialaidd. Yn ddiweddar, etholwyd Lenin Moreno yn Arlywydd cynta'r byd, sydd wedi'u barlysu, ac mae wedi ymrwymo i barhau efo gwleidyddiaeth chwith blaengar y wlad.

Mae cysoni sicrhau anghenion economaidd gwlad efo defnydd cynaliadwy o'r adnoddau naturiol ynghyd â pharch at hawliau traddodiadol a chynhenid yn bwysig yn Ecwador ac mi fyddwn yn gwyntyllu rhai o'r materion hyn yn ystod y penwythnos.

Gobeithiwn hefyd y byddwch yn mwynhau, ac wedi'ch ysbrydoli efo egni newydd, fel ddywed Oswaldo Guayasamin:

"Er gwaethaf pob dim, mae ein ffydd mewn dynoliaeth, ei allu i godi ac i fod yn greadigol, yn parhau yn gadarn am fod celf yn fywyd. Mae'n ffurf o gariad."

FESTIVAL INFO

Food & Stalls

We have two international food stalls for you on site. The Green Goat Café will be serving a delicious array of food inspired by their travels in Latin America, made using local and ethically sourced produce where possible. Ura Street Food returns with its vegetarian fusion of exciting world flavours which range from Latin America to Kolkata and back.

Visit our other stalls for handmade and fair trade goods, information about solidarity movements and more.

Our bar, inside the Plas (side entrance) is run by the Foresters pub and serves a full selection of drinks.

There are lots of cafes, restaurants and pubs in town as well – see map for ones which particularly welcome festival-goers. The White Lion pub welcomes musicians throughout the weekend and, new for 2017, we are delighted to welcome Caffi Alys for more off-site live music, tasty eating options and an opportunity to hear and speak Welsh with local customers and staff.

Camping

We have set up a campsite for Friday and Saturday night in the grounds of the school, Ysgol Bro Hyddgen (formerly Ysgol Bro Ddyfi). The school is across the road from our venue at Y Plas. To get to the campsite, you need to turn down the side of Posh Car Wash onto Bank Street (see map on back page). Our crew on the campsite will help you after that.

Dedication

Last year we lost a volunteer who helped us out enormously over the years. Derek Morrison-Smith was a superb sound engineer who was ever patient with the often chaotic needs of the musicians and dancers who have presented at the festival. He is very much missed and we send love and best wishes to Diana his wife and all his family

Main Programme

Friday Afternoon

'Another world is still possible'

An afternoon of positive reflection on where we are now, and what we have to celebrate. There will be some short political talks enlivened by songs, poetry and film. Our focus this year is on Ecuador; however, as usual there will be a number of different themes and issues introduced throughout the afternoon.

Contributors include:

Allan Wynne-Jones (chair)

Fidel Narvaez - Ecuadorian Embassy

Francisco Dominguez – Middlesex University

Quijada

Friday Evening

Choose between our Acoustic Evening in the Plas Hall, and the Dance Party in the Marquee - or move between the two as the mood takes you!

At the Acoustic Evening, the wonderful Welsh troubadour Dafydd Iwan will be playing between 8.30-9pm. Dafydd is a longtime supporter of the festival and has translated the Victor Jara song, "The Right To Live In Peace", into Welsh.

Others who will be performing include Jim Radford, singing sea shanties and early folk songs along with Nick Jeffrey who will be joining him with songs of Woody Guthrie and the brilliant number "Why We Build The Wall".

Latino melodic folk musicians Rompiendo Fronteras will be singing their beautiful harmonic versions of Latin American ballads, and there will be some lovely Welsh harp music from Cerys Hafana. In addition you can hear the Welsh singer Elen Blaney from Llangollen, as well as a few numbers from Tony and Cristina and a performance from El Parcito, a Chilean duo.

Meanwhile, in the Big Marquee Los Hermanos Millar will be playing. Based around brother and sister Pablo and Ema Millar, the group plays a highly original mix of Latino jazz-folk.

This will be followed by a Cornish Afro-Cuban salsa outfit, Quijada, who will get people on their feet and dancing with their mesmerising rhythms!

Saturday and Sunday

Music, Poetry and Dance performance

Expresión Inka is a dance and music group that offers a fusion of melodies, performance, rhythms, colour and Latin American traditions in London and England. They are artists: children, young people and adults, who for 10 years have been exploring the connections between art and folklore, and the ways in which these are tools to talk about current social issues and inspire change.

Quijada have been playing irresistible Latin sounds since 2009. Cornwall's answer to The Buena Vista Social Club, they will be playing a variety of Afro-Cuban music (both in Spanish and English), from standard Cuban numbers to self-penned songs. Quijada take their name from one of their instruments, an ancient Peruvian percussion device fashioned from a donkey's jawbone.

Juan Carlos Chiriboga is an Ecuadorian musician who plays music from his native land on guitar, charango and quena. His artistry is steeped in the sounds of the Andes and the Latin American 'trovador' tradition.

Blodau Gwyltton are a local Welsh duo who sing folk songs in the Welsh language. Their name means "Wild Flowers".

Cor Gobaith are a local choir who sing songs of protest and social justice. Their name means "Choir of Hope".

Dafydd Iwan is a Welsh folk singer and politician who has campaigned all his life for the Welsh language and who wrote the great Welsh anthem "Yma O Hyd" ("Still Here").

Los Hermanos Millar are a Chilean band from the city of Concepcion in the south. Ema and Pablo are brother and sister, and form the nucleus of the band. Their songs are a tapestry of folk styles, sometimes mixed with jazzy tinges. The band has been together for over 30 years, and over that time has dedicated itself to the study of Latin American traditional music. This work is strongly praised by many artistic organisations in their home country.

ECCO (Ethnic Contemporary Classical Orchestra)

This year we are delighted to have the participation of Musiko Musika and The Ethnic Contemporary Classical Orchestras of London, a community of children and families who perform music from around the world, and use their musical talents and passion to unite people from different backgrounds.

Appearing at El Sueño Existe will be the ECCO @ Lyric ensemble of around 30 children and parents from cultural backgrounds including the Philippines, Iraq, the Caribbean, Bulgaria, Sri Lanka and England, performing a characteristically diverse repertoire with an exuberance and spirit that lifts and inspires audiences.

The young musicians and their parents take an active role in every step of the music-making process – from playing to songwriting and conducting. Founded in 1998 by Mauricio Venegas-Astorga (director of Quimantu, who are also performing at the festival) and Rachel Pantin, Musiko Musika aims to empower children, young people, families and communities to make music and express themselves culturally.

Saturday and Sunday

Music, Poetry and Dance performance

Quimantu

Quimantu was formed by the outstanding UK based Chilean musician and composer Mauricio Venegas-Astorga, and since then has gained a reputation as one of Britain's finest South American bands. The group has blossomed out of the very particular musical environment that exists in the UK, especially in London, an environment that has afforded Quimantu the opportunity to collaborate with leading musicians from almost every genre imaginable, from Western Classical to Indian Classical, and from African to traditional English Folk. The result is a powerful and inspiring musical message, a refreshing mix full of life and honesty that speaks directly to audiences' hearts as well as their dancing feet. The performance for the festival will feature the wonderful voice of up and coming singer Laura Venegas-Rojas, whose velvet tones are rapidly making her a favourite with audiences here and in Chile.

Music In The Time Of Revolution: Kausary are a Peruvian outfit led by multi-instrumentalist; Johnny Rodriguez and they combine panpipes, salsa, rumba and cha cha cha. Hydrogen Jukebox are an improvising duet that draws on the Beat Generation, Celtic verse, and poems of protest from around the world including Allen Ginsberg's "Howl". Sid Peacock and Steve Tromans are delighted to realise this long held ambition of collaborating with Kausary. We would like to thank Tony Dudley-Evans for enabling this to happen.

Cloud Cuckoo are a Machynlleth-based band who play music inspired by the Chilean New Song movement with a light dusting of whimsical folk. We love playing the Sunday morning slot of the festival; come along and dance into the day.

Los Copihues Rojos take their name from the national flower of Chile. Expect lively cuecas as well as great renditions of songs by Isabel Parra, Victor Herrera and others.

Cloud Cuckoo

Society Of Imaginary Friends

Kausary

Saturday and Sunday

Society Of Imaginary Friends: Described as cinematic, classical and folk in a similar vein to the 'supernatural calm of Antony and the Johnsons', the Society of Imaginary Friends are a 'glorious mix of orchestral, folk melodrama'. Based around the mezzo-soprano voice of Louise Kleboe and accordion and keyboardist Alfie Thomas, they offer 'the kind of surreal beauty that Stanley Kubrick would have given his beard for, a remarkable experience that will leave you in goosebumps.' (Planet Sound, Channel 4). Louise and Alfie are composers of music for film and have worked on award-winning films including McLibel, Age of Stupid, Short Supply and At Dawning, and they are currently writing the score for the beautiful art film Snow People. They performed at the Opening Ceremony of the Green Fields at Glastonbury Festival this year.

La Veleidosa is fronted by the beautiful voice of Maria Bernardita. La Veleidosa is a Chilean band which particularly focuses on the preparation and diffusion of a repertoire of 'cueca', the national dance of Chile, as well as performing 'tonadas' and music of the new Chilean song tradition. One of the foundations of the group's music heritage is the Chilean 'cantora', embodied in the legacy of Violeta Parra and her own research on the rural culture of Chile.

Razz: Also known as the 'Bard Of Tottenham', Razz is a veteran of the festival and a brilliant performance poet. He ran the legendary "World Oyster Club" at Bunjees in London for many years. He will be pitching up for impromptu renditions throughout the festival.

Carlos Arevalo is an Ecuadorian musician from Quito who plays zampona and quena.

Celebration And Circle Dance: It has become a tradition at the end of the festival for the audience and performers to join together with some inspiring songs that everyone can take part in. This will be followed by a closing circle dance; local circle dance group Dawns Tierra have been playing for circle dances in the Dyfi Valley for many years, and local dancer Claire Jenkins has choreographed dances to many Latin American songs including some by Violeta Parra and Victor Jara.

Open Mic Area

This will be in the Community Garden Hut and will take place from 1pm - 6pm on Saturday afternoon. Come along to sing a song or 3, or recite a poem. Your MCs will be Razz and friends.

Caffi Alys at 73 Maengwyn St will be a venue for Sueno artists from 11am-6pm on the Saturday and 11.30am-3pm on the Sunday. Lovely atmosphere and great food.

Cultural workshops and Events Saturday

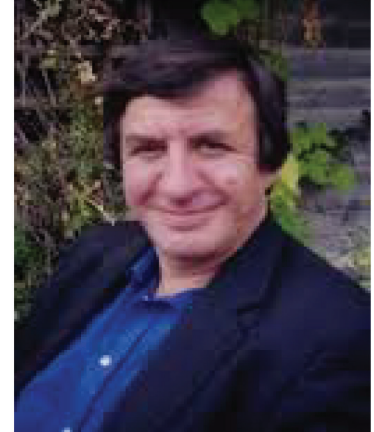

Nature Medicine

Nature Ceremony - Alex Etchart is an Anglo-Uruguayan community artist and nature connection worker, supporting marginalised groups and ecological campaigns in doing arts action locally and in territories of conflict.

We will use mind, body and song to reconnect with the land, herstory and the humans around us in an uplifting start to the day.

Pablo Neruda: Passion for Ecuador

Neruda's acclaimed biographer and translator Adam Feinstein talks about the Nobel Prize winning Chilean poet's friendship with Ecuador's greatest painter, Oswaldo Guayasamin, and its two finest poets: Jorge Enrique Adoum and Jorge Carrera Andrade.

Adam Feinstein

Gadael Tir (3 Acres and a Cow)

This is a show that tells the story of land rights and protest in Wales. It follows the trials and tribulations of the common folk who strove to build the nation from the ground up. Gadael Tir tells their story through sing-along choruses of traditional songs; tales of desperation and perseverance; cross-dressing, axe wielding farmers; radical preachers, land workers and unions, across a thousand years of history and squeezed into one performance!

Gadael Tir (3 Acres and a Cow)

Hispano-American Women Writers on Memory

We are seven women artists whose activities range from writing our own prose, poetry and songs to painting and performing in live events.

We will run a creative workshop where together we will form a Mantle of Hope, a collective collage, with the words and images that arise during the session.

Our performance (with the use of poetry, music and prose, and other Art forms that give us wings) will explore the universal theme 'Woman and Water'. In a performance amalgamating poetry, music and prose, we will celebrate the power of the endlessly flowing Woman, and commemorate women's struggle for water.

Crossing the Boundary / Croesi'r Terfynau

Do we own the land or does the land own us? Themes of visible and invisible walls in the landscape, and encounters with those from the 'Other World' who inconveniently try to cross those boundaries, are rife throughout Welsh folk tales. Discover what happened when these tales were told in America late last year, when the subject of wall-building to keep 'them' out was on everyone's lips. With Ailsa Mair Hughes and Peter Stevenson.

Crossing the Boundary

Pablo Neruda: Passion for Ecuador (see Saturday listing for details)

ECCO (Musiko Musika) Performance Extravaganza (see feature on page 7) An ensemble of around 30 children and parents from various cultural backgrounds including the Philippines, Iraq, the Caribbean, Bulgaria, Sri Lanka and England, performing a characteristically diverse repertoire with an exuberance and spirit that will lift and inspire you.

"The launch of Alborada magazine is one of those landmarks of journalism."
John Pilger (Journalist and documentary filmmaker)

ALBORADA

LATIN AMERICA UNCOVERED

Alborada is an independent voice on Latin America, exploring the region's politics, media and culture. We provide a progressive take on the most important issues and offer perspectives rarely found in the mainstream media.

www.alborada.net

To pick up a free Alborada magazine back issue, visit the Alborada stall at the festival.

Political Workshops

Full speaker biographies on the festival website**

Trump and Latin America

What does 'President Trump' mean for the progressive Left in Latin America? This workshop will be an introduction to the new era – full of threats but also of possibilities. Whilst the right is resurgent in Argentina and Brazil, and continues to attack Venezuela, the ALBA progressive countries carry on the struggle!

Francisco Dominguez (Middlesex University)

Chris Williamson (Labour Friends of Progressive Latin America)

Communist Party of Wales

Which way forward for Wales and Britain? Post general election analysis and for a People's Exit from the EU.

Robert Griffiths: General Secretary, Communist Party of Britain

Laura Picand: Chair, Welsh Communists.

Colombia 2017 – 2 years of huge change

El Sueno Existe 2015 focused on Colombia, adding our weight to calls for a peace process to develop. 2 years on, this workshop will bring us up to speed on developments, from the signing of formal Peace Accords between the FARC and the Government. But the struggles against mining corporations are ongoing, and Trade Unionist still face threats to their safety.

Carlos Cruz (UNITE Education)

Laura Knopfler (Colombia Solidarity Campaign)

Cherilyn Elston (Justice for Colombia)

Ecuador: 10 years of the 'Citizens' Revolution' – Achievements and Challenges

The recent electoral victory of Lenin Moreno and defeat for the right means that the social progress started under the previous government headed by President Correa has another electoral term. This workshop will describe many of the main achievements of the last 10 years but also examine the challenges facing the country and the people of Ecuador.

Fidel Narvaez (Embassy of Ecuador)

Ben Studd (Friends of Ecuador)

Fidel Castro – His Life and Legacy

This workshop examines Fidel's extraordinary determination, breadth of vision and massive achievements over 5 decades, both within Cuba and internationally, despite the continual US blockade and hostility. Find out about how Cuba's example inspires the progressive governments in Latin America today. ¡Viva Fidel!

Francisco Dominguez (Middlesex University)

Wendy Emmett (Cuba Solidarity Campaign)

The Media – 'Fake News' Global Media and Grassroots Alternatives

Media corporations have always presented the views of the elite as the truth, distorting our view of our own countries and of societies such as Cuba and Venezuela that have successfully challenged 'neoliberal' arguments. This workshop examines the role of global media in Latin America and closer to home, and also looks at some inspiring alternatives that are just a click away. Maybe we need to do it ourselves!

Pablo Navarrete (Alborada Media)

Shaun Dey (ReelNews Media)

'The Dance Lives On!'

Telling Tales Theatre Group present a moving & uplifting performance of images, songs and stories, portraying the lives of three extraordinary activist / artists- Joe Hill (USA), Victor Jara (Chile) and Patrick Shanaghan (North of Ireland) - who were all killed for their creative resistance. This will be followed by a short workshop thinking about our own creativity as we face the future. Carry it on!

The Left Can Win Elections!

Recent victories of left wing candidates and parties in Ecuador and Nicaragua show that There IS An Alternative. From nationalisation of key resources, investment in education and health and development of political engagement in the grassroots, elections can be won despite the barrage of media attacks. This workshop will also include an analysis of the UK General Election.

Guisell Morales (Nicaraguan Ambassador to the UK)

Chris Williamson MP (Labour Friends of Progressive Latin America)

Political Workshops

Cymru a'r Cynulliad / Wales and the Assembly (in Welsh with translation into English)

Bydd y gweithdy yn trafod Cymru ddoe, heddiw ac yfory. Bydd yn cyflwyno syniadau am ddatganoli yng Nghymru, ac edrych ar yr economi, gwleidyddiaeth a brwydr yr iaith ers dechrau'r Cynulliad.

The workshop will discuss Wales yesterday, today and tomorrow. It will introduce ideas about devolution in Wales, and look at the economy, politics and the language struggle since the beginning of the Assembly. Also a chance for visitors to understand more about current issues in Wales.

Ben Gregory (Wales Nicaragua Solidarity Campaign)
Maia Jones (Cymdeithas yr Iaith / Welsh Language Society & Cymru Cuba)
Bethan Ruth (Cymdeithas yr Iaith & Friends of the Earth)

Ecuador and the Environment

All Latin America countries trying to find a progressive way forward against neoliberalism face the same basic challenge – the tension between protection of the environment with exploiting natural resources for social investment. From the government battling multinational oil companies to indigenous communities struggling to preserve their land against external threats, this workshop will examine the widely differing views on where Ecuador has got it right and got it wrong.

Fidel Narvaez (Embassy of Ecuador)
Nicola Peel (Film maker and environmental campaigner)

The Charter of the Forest - 800th Anniversary: A Celebration of Our Land Rights

The Charter of the Forest was the companion charter to the much more famous Magna Carta, and gave common people rights to access the land. This workshop will explore historic and contemporary social movements to keep land held in common.

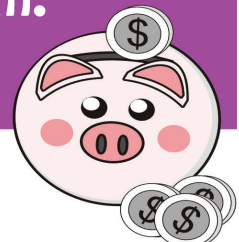

Julie Timbrell
(New Putney Debates and Occupy London)

Politics for all ages:

The Great Globalisation Trading Game! Roll up, roll up! Fun for all the family (8+)

Can you beat the World Bank and trade your way to untold riches? Or will you have to grow bananas? Watch out for that hurricane on the way! Thought-provoking and hilarious. Led by Tim Hollins from the festival organising team.

Family activities - Saturday

ECCO Instrumental Workshop - all ages and abilities welcome. Bring your own instrument, or borrow one from us (see feature on page 7)

Come and experience the joy of being part of an ECCO ensemble. Come along and learn some of their diverse repertoire. If you have participated in the workshop you will be invited to join the ECCO on stage on Sunday at 2.30 for the ECCO concert.

Gozart Mask-making workshop - all ages welcome

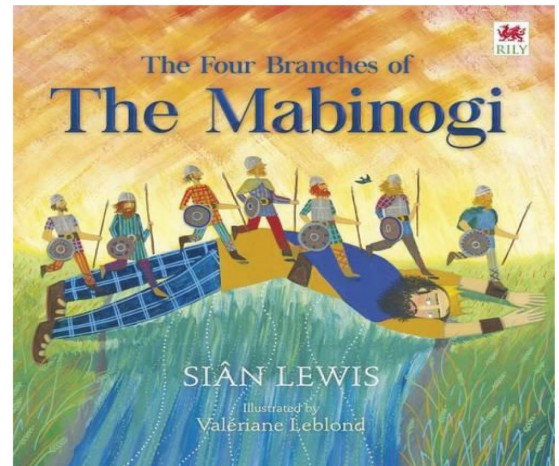

The mask workshop is a drop in activity for everybody - people of all ages are welcome to participate. The theme of the masks will be based on the pre-Hispanic time in Latin America. Join us to create and decorate your own mask with colours and ornaments. As soon as you finish your mask, you will be able to take it with you and wear it, adding colour, surprise and fun to the festival!

Welsh Folk Tales, Story-maps, and Children's Book illustration

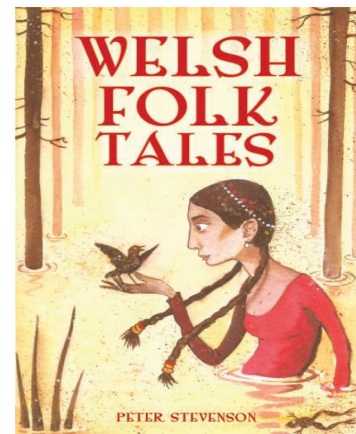

For those from 7 to 70! Join Valérie Leblond, artist and illustrator of Y Mabinogi, and Peter Stevenson, storyteller and author of Welsh Folk Tales, for an afternoon workshop where you will learn how to create and illustrate a children's book based on Valeriane's new illustrated story-map of Wales, and hear a few folk tales from Peter's new book.

Mandala making workshop – for all ages

Mandalas are symbols with a central point of symmetry. A snowflake or a sunflower would be examples of mandalas occurring in nature. Throughout the globe and across time many religions and cultures have used mandalas for meditation, healing, reflection and to express the divine. We will create a large group mandala out of natural materials to symbolise Wales and Ecuador in solidarity, and to envision peace and justice throughout the world. With artist Ruth Hogg.

The Wings of the Butterfly – Story-telling and drama workshop

An Amazonian tale from the Tukuna tribe performed by Milly Jackdaw. We join Chimidyue as she follows the luscious blue, Morpho butterfly into the rainforest. An amazing Amazonian adventure unfolds and we find ourselves talking with birds and dancing with animals. Come and join in this participatory story/workshop - together we will bring the story and characters to life and create our very own 'festival of the monkey people'.

After the story-telling, go and make a mask at the Gozart workshop. Then join us after lunch to prepare for the joyous Children's Parade through the festival site, led by Millie Jackdaw. Dress up, bring your instruments, bring your funky monkey dances, bring your fluttery butterfly twirls. Open to all!
